Colored Troops Who Fought Bravely in Africa-Reception of Warriors Re-General Wolseley's Official Neglect.

KINGSTON, May 20, 1974.

The event of note since the departure of the preus mail has been the arrival of the steam transort Nebruska, with the Second West India regireat preparations had been made by the crtizens o give these troops a fitting welcome, and the inion was carried out in a right loyal spirit and with great success. The troops landed on the afternoon of the 18th, amid salvoes of artiflery and the general acciamation of the citizens, of whom there could not have been less than 20,000 at of doors on the occasion and joining heartily in the general demonstration. The city was guyly degorated, especially those course, where a municipal address was to be pro-sented. Two triumphal arches, got up with great aste of evergreens, flowers and banners, were not the least attractive leatures in the honors of the

On the 25th inst. the officers and men will be enbertained at a banquet to be given at the expense

The Hartian Phesipency.

In the Herald of Sunday, May 24, telegraphic news was poblished to the effect that President Nessage saget, or Hayti, had resigned his office and banded over the government of the Republic to General Domingue.

By the arrival of the steamship Ætha from Port an Prince, which port she left as recently as the 22d inst., we have received in their interesting details on this subject, and which are as follows:—
Saget's retirement from the Presidental office, which he had filled since the 15th of May, 1870, was made the occasion of a public demonstration in his honor. National salutes were fired from the forts at Port an Prince in his honor, and all possibit tributes of respect were paid to the late Chief Magistrate. He left Port an Prince to take up his residence at 8t. Marc, his birthplace.

The Haytian government has passed a law ordering him to be paid a pension of $4,600 per annum.
In addition to this the Republic has provided him with a secretary, two personal attaches and lifteen

Serving men.

General Michele Domingue, the President elect of flayt, who is of pure African descent, is upwards of seventy years of age. He is a native of Aux Cayea. His career has been exclusively a military one, which explains the support he has received for his candidature from the army. He is known as a strict disciplinarian and an honorable man. He took a very prominent part in the rebellion against salnave, and acted as vice President til Saget filled the Presidential chair. He is now residing at Port an Prince, awaiting the action of the Haytian Assembly to declare him President. This body will, according to present arrangements, meet on the 12th of June.

Captain Mount, of the Seventeenth precinct, yeserdsy sent information to the Coroners' office concerning the death of Robert Platt, a child five t Ninth street. It appears that on Wednesday arternoon, on the corner of First avenue and Ninth street, deceased was struck or pushed with so much force by an Italian ice cream vender that he fell to the pavement. The little fellow immediately got up, and, going home, complained of feeling sick, when a physician was sent for and attended him until ne died. The fatal injury was to the head, death probably ensuing from concussion or inflammation of the brain. Cornorer Woltman was notified and will make an investigation. PEACE OR WAR IN EUROPE?

It would be the happiest event for both Germany and France if it could be demonstrated that war is atterly impossible for a long term of years. At present each is under an intolerable disquiet from the sense of possible danger. This feeling is itself perilous, for each nation, fascinated, as it were, by the gaze of its opponent, is drawn towards the conflict it may desire to avoid. Thus it may be asked what possible interest Germany can have in renewing the war. Everything has been gained that war can give-national unity, military fame, an extended territory, a frontier almost impregnable, guarded as it is by two first class fortresses, and with a great river as the second line of defence. No one can doubt that the war preparations of Germany are strictly defensive, and that German statesmen and strategists, though roady to endure all for the sake of keeping what has been won, have no aggressive designs. And yet who does not feel that, if the game of mutual defiance and menace were to go on, Germany is as likely as France to strike the first blow, from pure apprehension lest her enemy should strike it? But the evil of mutual apprehension falls more severely on France. That illiated country, which has been visited at the same hour by the greatest calamities of war and revolution, which has seen the Prussians on one side of the Paris fortifications and a mon of turious anarchists on the other, which is now laboriously restoring its material strength and remodelling for the twentieth time its political institutions, cannot be if for a great struggle till many years are past. It is not the mere balancing of a budget, or the installation of a newly devised Senate, or even the installation of a newly devised Senate, or even the installation of a newly devised Senate, or even the installation of a newly devised Senate, or even the installation of a newly devised Senate, or even the installation of a newly devised Senate, or even the installation of a newly devised Senate, or even the installation of a newly devised Senate, or even the installation of a newly devised Senate, or even the installation of a newly devised Senate, or even that self-restraint and resignation as a statesman can pender to the French people as to convince them that self-restraint and resignation for, a higher mational destiny. We are happy to the gaze of its opponent, is drawn towards the conflict it may desire to avoid. Thus it may be

AN INTERESTING QUESTION AND ANSWER.

Henry Ward Beecher in the Christian Union.]
Would it be wrong for a young man who is a Christian and an active member of a church to marry a young lady he loves, and who, he has reason to believe, loves him, but who is not a Christian and does not belong to a Christian family?

We have several times given a general opinion particular cases. The advice of Paul against marto this time. There was an irreconcilable doctrinal to this time. There was at irreconclishe doctrinal and moral antagonism between an ancient heathen and a Christian living in percetual expectation of martyrdom from beathen foes. There could be no "fellowship" between them. The whole question is one of fellowship, if the lady whom our correspondent speaks of is one who will be in sympathy with his highest aspirations and purposes—nis purposes to live nobity and unselfishiy—then he had better marry her than some processors of religion.
